

CONSTRUCT

November 23, 7:30 pm
Hochstein Performance Hall
50 Plymouth Ave
Rochester, NY
14614

GVOC celebrates its 44th season by sharing music related to concepts of the visual arts. Our first program of the season highlights the relationship between architecture and music.

We honor the Cathedral of Notre-Dame of Paris with two works heard in its timeless space. We share the symbolic proportions of the "Credo" of Bach's monumental "Mass in B Minor," and we honor the great mathematician, designer, and artist Leonardo Da Vinci with the American premiere of Cecilia McDowall's "Da Vinci Requiem."

COLOR

March 7, 6:00 pm
Clover Center for
Arts and Spirituality
1101 Clover St
Rochester, NY 14610

After the success of our Disney and Sound of Music concert, GVOC will continue to make its March concerts family-friendly. We collaborate again with the Children's Choir and Youth Chamber Singers of the Eastman Community Music school to present music inspired by color.

Both the young and not-so-young will enjoy classics such as the Beatles' "Yellow Submarine," Cyndi Lauper's "True Colors," Kermit's "Rainbow Connection," along with the timeless, "Somewhere over the Rainbow." In addition to celebrating songs for families, the Eastman singers, along with the children and grandchildren of GVOC members, will display their own artwork inspired by the theme of color!

CHAOS

May 16, 7:30 pm
Clover Center for
Arts and Spirituality
1101 Clover St
Rochester, NY 14610

As GVOC has celebrated architecture and color through music, we jump to a more abstract concept for our spring concert: chaos.

We celebrate those composers who were daring enough to break the rules. From traditional, classical music we share Rebel's "Chaos," Biber's "Battaglia à 10," and the "Agnus Dei" from Beethoven's "Missa Solemnis."

With GVOC's goal to promote music that is relevant to our current times and human conditions, we also present Jocelyn Pook's "Anxiety Fanfare and Variations," a work written to be performed by health-care workers, and the rhythmically-vibrant "Dark Night of the Soul" by Ola Gjeilo.
